

Being Lovingly Neutral - [To Linda Coates Question Nov 1] Linda, thanks for sharing, you are likely expressing what others feel as well. My point was its not our intent to use this group and the group power to overrule any individuals or group of individuals Free Will choices. Obviously there are many now who are choosing for War. (By the way, each of us who would claim to not be choosing war still contribute whenever we are in inner conflict or in conflict with another no matter how slight.) All that adds up and supports the global manifestations of war.

The Homeland or Christ Consciousness honors the choices of all Beings above all else. An example of this is that Jeshua never healed indiscriminately he always asked “Do you believe?” in doing so he was honoring and joining with their Free will. Did you know there is a “Warrior Realm” were all they do is war? Al was on journey with Jesus once when they came upon that realm. Al was a bit disturbed and insinuated to Jesus that maybe they should do something about it. Jesus’s response was those beings in that realm were exercising their free will choices, he honored and celebrated their right to do so.

Of course as you suggested above joining with the will of others is always possible. Nothing here seeks to limit anyones ability to do just as you suggest so clearly. It is simply not the overall intent of this group or our shared purpose.

Jesus’s 7 major incarnations, The Elders Rescue Works and the Al Miner/Lama Sing work were all to set souls FREE from finiteness and the cycles of birth and death. What we are about here is Claiming Utter Freedom and Freeing ourselves from the Wheel of incarnation & Karma thereby ending our involvement with finite realms like earth.

Loving Neutrality is the key as it sets one free. The Peace, Balance and Harmony offered in BBiP was toward this end as well. As well intended as seeking to make change, yes even positive change on earth is, it can bind one to the earth and the intended or hoped for outcomes. Lama Sing has said Love, yes even Love can even be a limit.

Setting ourselves FREE and claiming Utter Freedom as a group while still in the earth will no doubt have PROFOUND effects upon the earth by our simple being and presence.

This is a good opportunity for all gathered around this work to determine if your Spirit is calling you to Utter Freedom or continued involvement in the earth. Both are equal and perfectly legitimate choices, one is not better or higher than the other. However they are very different.

So Linda you are right, you do KNOW all that you suggested can be chosen. The point is does it align with our group intent for Utter Freedom from finiteness and the intent of this group of Reclaiming and Actualizing our Divine Primordial Consciousness. We never loose our ability to co-create we would simply do it in Union with God beyond the finite realms.

Thank you for the great question.
