

You Have the Right

Audio - You Have the Right

You have the right, if not the destiny, to become all that you can. As you claim this, you empower yourself to take dominion over all that is within your house: your body, mind, and spirit. Ever within this house is the perfect pattern which your Eternal Spirit is offering you, supported by those servants of God as are with you. And supported most of all by the Light within — t hat which the Master referred to as the resurrection.

It can be stated, and it is not mere rhetorical here, that each day is a new lifetime. Indeed, moment to moment you are offered a resurrection. You can empower yourself by seeing and believing that you have this right and the wherewithal to impose the resurrection now. It is somewhat of an illusion and a great burden that so many believe that they can only be saved in this way or that, that only in that time, as called, Final Judgment, shall they become whole and pure and saved.

Again, is this, in your mind, what you would expect from a Father whose love has no limit? Who designed such a structure? It matters not here, except that we, in humbleness — not of ourselves, but offering this in God’s name and in service to the Way, the Christ. Know that you are saved, and that the process of living life could be said as one intended for you to have the opportunity to discover this and to claim it.

I am the resurrection, the light, the life, the Way,” if you were to put your name in that statement, would it be blasphemy? Remember, “All these things and greater shall ye do.” See? “And greater.” See? 19990810 SJ Lazarus
